

Dear AAPPS-DPP members

Happy new year to all of you.

Here is another Posdoc opportunity from Prof. TH Watanabe at Nagoya University.

Dear Colleagues,

Happy new year!

We are calling for applicants to a postdoctoral position of our research project on computer simulation of plasma turbulent transport. If you know potential candidates, please feel free to forward this mail. We are looking forward to having a variety of applicants.

Thank you.

Best regards,

Tomo-Hiko Watanabe

Department of Physics, Nagoya University

Nagoya 464-8602, Japan

———— Call for Application ————

a) Position: A postdoctoral researcher

b) Research field: Computer simulation of plasma turbulent transport

c) Term of employment: Renewable each fiscal year up to March 31, 2023

d) Starting date: April 1, 2020 or later at the earliest possible time

e) Application deadline: February 7, 2020

(If we could find a successful candidate, we may terminate the call for application even before the deadline)

f) Application materials: (1) Curriculum Vitae, (2) Summary of research achievements (up to two A4 sheets), (3) List of publications (attached with PDF files of the three most important publications), (4) Research plan (up to two A4 sheets), (5) Possible starting date, (6) Name and contact of two professional references

g) Submission address: watanabe.tomohiko@nagoya-u.jp

h) Inquiries: Tomo-Hiko Watanabe, watanabe.tomohiko@nagoya-u.jp